

Deepjyoti Deb FELLOW

As a health innovation fellow for HCM Strategists, Deepjyoti (or “Deep”) Deb supports the team by conducting research, organizing and attending events and briefings on Capitol Hill and assisting with client needs. Deep previously worked with HCM as a summer intern and jumped at the chance to continue his work with the team as a fellow.

Prior to his work with HCM, Deep completed a bachelor’s degree in neuroscience and psychology at Boston University. After graduating, Deep accepted a position at an environmental health lab where he worked in gene sequencing and epigenetics. He is currently attending the University of Maryland pursuing a master’s degree in public health with a focus on health policy analysis and evaluation with a certificate in global health.

Deep was born and raised in Boston. He currently lives in Washington, D.C. and enjoys getting to know the city, going to museums and running marathons.